About the company:

Stafiz is a start-up that develops the best Software for services companies (consultants, agencies, auditors,). The software provides ERP features (timesheets, billing,), helps manage resource planning across teams and creates a innovative network between all stakeholders (services companies, their clients & freelancers) for everybody to work more efficiently with more visibility.

In just a few years, Stafiz has become the leading software for professional services organizations in France. We want to become the leader in Europe and we are looking for a fantastic CTO to help us achieve this.

Our vision Create the next automated software that will make redundant all unnecessary work times! (so that people can be on never-ending vacations).

The website is built under Laravel (PHP framework), using vue.js and hosted at AWS. Stafiz is growing very quickly and is now seeking to extend its internal development team. We are looking for a CTO to plan, organize and perform the growth of the software.

We love sharp people who like the code to be neat and clean, for the beauty and efficiency of it.
